DO YOUR SHARE FOR FIRE PREVENTION

IT DID HAPPEN HERE! Be sure to do your part in fire prevention by clearing away dry brush and debris piled near structures. Check chimneys, and furnace flues, be sure to remain in attendance while burning in the incinerator, and don't take chances with the wiring in your house. A little safety inspection may keep it from happening to you! (George T.C. Smith photo)

A GOOD DOUSING is received by all in the water fights down Cannery Row during the celebration of Fire Prevention Week. The parade will end up on the Row and pieces of equipment will be demonstrated. Hose Cart races and hose fights will provide entertainment...and wet firemen!

Palo Colorado parents decide to set up their own private school

The Palo Colorado people are dedicated to their concept of a Community School. When their final request to reopen the school was not acted upon at last Wednesday's board meeting, they quietly and efficiently went about setting up a private school, the only solution which they feel is left.

A large home in Palo Colorado Canyon has been donated by Alexandra Connell as a location for the school. There are spacious grounds, giving room for playground area.

Norman Godbe who is president of the Palo Colorado School Association has already applied for a use permit and has begun incorporation proceedings for the school which was ready for classes on Monday. By incorporating as a non-profit educational institution the school will be able to receive textbooks and materials.

TEACHER SIGNED

The most important spoke of all in this wheel, a teacher, has been signed for the school year. Paul Cohen, who is an accredited teacher who taught last year in Seaside, has agreed to teach at Palo Colorado.

Parents and friends gathered on Sunday at the "school grounds" to clean up and ready the place for Monday morning classes.

For the past three weeks, the Palo Colorado children have been attending classes out of doors at their one-room school which has remained locked under an order from the CUSD board closing the school. Parents rebelled against the order changing the boundaries and requiring their children to attend Captain Cooper, farther down the coast or River School in Carmel.

A final plea was made at last Wednesday's board meeting when a petition carrying over 1,600 names was presented asking the trustees to re-open the school for the present year. When this was not acted upon, the Palo Colorado School Association went ahead with its plans for a private school.

The Association is hoping for financial help from friends who have supported the cause. According to the parents, a couple of dollars from each of the petition signers would be a good start.

A.C.L.U. picnic to be held at Saddle Mt. Ranch

David Harris will speak on draft resistance; Joe Broadman, folk singer and the "Bitter Seeds Rock Band" will provide entertainment. Facilities for swimming and children's games are available.

The general public is invited. Admission fee is $2 for adults; children under 16 free if accompanied by parents. Bring a picnic lunch; coffee, beer and pop will be sold. Tickets will be at the gate.

Co-op ventures improve Village appearance

Bob Kvenild, chairman of the Village Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, calls attention to the landscaping and beautification currently being finished in the Village.

The plantings in the divider strips at Del Fino Place are a joint venture of the Carmel Valley Mobilgas Station, the Chamber of Commerce, the Village Committee and the Commercial Property Owners Assn.

The recently completed side walk on Carmel Valley Road was done by Pacific Telephone Company and joins that already in front of the Chatterbox Restaurant.

Several other projects are on the Village Committee drive to make the commercial area more attractive.

CHAMBER MEETING

Carmel Valley Chamber will meet tomorrow (Thursday) at noon at Rippling River Resort. All members are welcome to attend the board meeting.

Six Carmel realtors at state convention

EDITORIAL

The Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula reopened this past weekend at the Circle Theatre in Carmel with a brand new face. Under the direction of board president Dick Bragg and with the help of volunteers and staff, the entire interior of the theatre is clean and sparkling under a fresh coat of paint.

The traditional red carpet was out for theatre goers who enjoyed this new addition along with the comfortable new red chairs.

As one of the early theatres in Carmel, the Golden Bough has offered entertainment of high quality for many years.

With a light-hearted and well-done play, "Ready When You Are, C.B.!", to combine with their attractive new decor, we wish them packed houses...which we feel certain they will get.

Community Theatre re-opens with a blaze of glory!

SCHOOL NOTES

Brickbats are so often thrown at school curricula while bouquets are neglected that we think this letter received by Carmel High School principal Art Gumbrell deserves publication.

We listened and watched a demonstration of the Wang computer at a recent school board meeting. Mr. Faus and his students were completely at home with what they were doing and did amazing problems in math in a matter of seconds with the instrument.

We, who haven't yet conquered new math, were completely in the dark about the whole operation. We wondered how many of the board members would have been able to toss it off as capably as the students.

Dear Mr. Gumbrell:

I should like to congratulate your school on the remarkably successful utilization of the Wang System. I would also like to thank your Mathematics department in general and Mr. Duncan O. Faus in particular for their cooperation and cordiality.

I visited several times during the summer session and was quite impressed with what I saw being accomplished there. The students' motivation, involvement and broadened learning horizons were inspiring to witness. Many of the math problem-techniques created by the students and Mr. Faus were so outstanding that I borrowed them to exhibit them at our home office education seminar. At this seminar, the reaction to the material was one of unanimous interest and praise.

In fact, it was felt that this material was so good we are considering utilizing some of it in forthcoming publications. Our Vice President, Ned Chang, was so interested that on a recent trip to California he asked if he could visit the high school and meet Mr. Faus.

I am personally so very impressed with the modern strides I saw taken by the students and Mr. Faus on Wang Systems that I'm bragging throughout northern California about your school, your staff and your students.

Very truly yours,
Jay Adams
Educational Consultant,
Wang Laboratories

The Rhyming Philosopher

VERNACULAR

Young Cassius Jones was employed in a store and worked like he never got tired. He kept up the books and swept out the floor, much more than for what he was hired. Other employees did what they were told, but lacked the ambition of Jones. So Boss took his ease, while Cass then took hold to run things and answer the phones. Boss then decided since this was the case he'd travel to London and Rome, Instructing young Jones, "Now you take my place; no telling when I'm coming home." Cassius Jones wished Employer, "Good Luck, I hope to do just what you said." Then worked twice as hard as though he was struck with lightning to come out ahead. So, Bossman returned, he then blew his lid and screamed, "Where's my name on the sign!" "You said 'Take my place,'" cried Jones, "so I did, I purchased the lease, now it's mine!"

Rev. James Brock named new school board trustee

REVEREND JAMES BROCK

Reverend James Brock of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley was named as the new trustee to fill the vacancy left by Dr. Robert Newton on the Carmel Unified School District board, at last week's meeting.

Rev. Brock, who has been an active member of the community since he was appointed vicar of St. Dunstan's in 1962, served as co-chairman of the parents' group for the override tax in the Carmelo area.

He and his wife Ginger were vice presidents and presidents in successive years of the Carmelo School Parents' Club.

Currently he is also serving on the boards of the Alcoholism Council of the Monterey Peninsula, Operation Shoestring - and Camp Amigos Day Camp.

In addition he has been on the boards of the CV Community Center, the CV Kiwanis Club and managed a Little League team.

The Brocks have 4 children in the Carmel School District, in 3 different schools. Joel attends Carmelo School, Amy and Michael are students at Middle School and Becky is at Carmel High School.

The Brocks came here from Colorado, where both graduated from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He graduated from the Church Divinity School of the Pacific at Berkeley during which time he served as a recreation director for the Berkeley Public Schools.

Returning to Colorado he served as assistant rector at several churches and was chaplain to the students at Colorado State Teachers College and Colorado Women's College.

Herald writer tells Kiwanis of convention

An atmosphere of rowdiness and rudeness describes the recent Chicago Democratic convention, similar to the 1964 GOP convention, Earl Hofeldt Monterey Herald political writer, told CV Kiwanis Club last week at Los Laureles Lodge.

He said he felt the treatment of the California delegation "as enemies", being shoved off into a distant corner, was unnecessary. "The National Committee, with things going its way, could well have afforded to be gracious."

The Miami Republican convention, in contrast, was quiet and routine, he said, with Nixon forces in control all the time.

"In Chicago, everything was done to goad and torment the Guardsmen and police," Hofeldt said, "and although they over-reacted in some cases, it was human reaction."

George Clifford was announced as Kiwanis presidential nominee by Joe Ricupero for the Nominating committee. Other nominees: Dr. Dean Campbell, first vice president; Charles Strathmeyer, 2nd vice president; Don Quinto, treasurer; and directors Karl Kunz, Jim Brock, King Fleming, Andy Fitzgerald, Rex White, Hank Palmer, Dr. Keith Howell and Charles Hoisington.

Dr. Ed Marcucci praised his business district workers in the CV Community Chest drive and urged their support: Lou Gardner, Paul Porter, Brownell, Fitzgerald, Rex White and Dr. Campbell.

CHS gridders win 3 games

Carmel High's varsity grid-ders smothered the opposition Friday night in the West Jamboree at Cabrillo College, winning three straight with more than double the points of the nearest competitor.

The Padres chalked up 52 points, to Palma's 21, Hollister's 11 and San Lorenzo Valley's 7.

Carmel knocked over Palma 20-8, Hollister 19-3 and San Lorenzo 13-3.

On Saturday the Padre frosh took Palma 8-6 while the JVs scrimmaged.

The varsity victory was paced by fullback Mark Spindler and tailback Rusty Vandervort, plus the passing combinations of Doug Lang throwing to flankerback Gary Cohn and split-end Greg Campbell.

Coach Monte Feekes said the Padres' victory was led by a very strong defensive unit, which gave up one touchdown and four first downs in the 3 quarters played. "Standouts on this defensive team were linebackers Tom Millott and Mike Dress, along with linemen Steve Taylor and Scott Morriss," he added.

A highlight was when Campbell picked off a Hollister pass and sprinted through the opposition for 45 yards to a touchdown.

Carmel's 3 teams open league play at Gonzales Friday. Frosh play at 4, JVs at 6 and varsity at 8.

CHS track

Carmel High's cross country squad will open the season with a center meet at York School this Thursday. League competition begins Oct. 10 at King City.

The team will build on 4 returning veterans, according to Coach Lloyd Baskerville: senior Matt Ward; juniors Mike Lundblad, Jim Vanlandingham and Curt Hays.

Also mainstays will be these runners, up from last year's junior varsity: Phil Goulding, Mark Neeson and Brent Percival; plus new members Kit Causey, Tom Pelton, John Engstrom, Bill Faus, Larry Frye, Erich Rauber and Ted Willner.

Ken Guthrie writes from Yugoslavia

Joyce Guthrie of the Outlook staff recently received a letter from her son, Ken, who is a Marine Security guard at the United States Embassy in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Shortly after the Czechoslovakian crisis, Ken made some interesting observations.

He was about to go to Sjubljana in the Slovenian Alps for a weekend of fishing, but said that he still had to call the Embassy each day he was there because .....

"...The Yugoslavs still sweat the Russians. They've got everything on the borders and a pact with Romania. If the Russians try to come in here and Romania it's going to be bloody. They won't stand for it. I'm proud of these people.

They've worked almost 40 years for what freedom they do have and when they're just beginning to see daylight along come the Russians. I wish the Hippies could live here for awhile; they'd understand what freedom really means. They've even got Albanians escaping to Yugoslavia.

Folks at home can't begin to imagine what those people have to live with. As long as I'm around, America won't be blind to this. We can't afford to be. The cost is too much for anyone.

They had a big rally in Marx an Engles Square. There's a secretary at the Embassy who loves these things and one of the political officers wanted to go, so we all joined the rally. It was quite an experience for me. (I'm used to being on the wrong end of these things.) It did my heart good to see signs of "Russian Go Home" for a change.

There were speeches by party members and rabble rousers and they burned Stalin's picture and stomped on pictures of Russian tanks. (The Russian diplomats were all out of town, luckily.)

Then a group of Czechs carrying the Czech flag led a procession to the Czech Embassy where things really got good. The Czech Ambassador appeared on the balcony and kissed the flag.

It was all very emotional and this touched off chants of "Tito, Dubcich, Svoboda" and a huge daisy chain got started to the Yugoslav and Czech National anthems.

About 10 streets were blocked off by the crowd, and people got out of their cars and buses to join in. Then the Czech Foreign Minister appeared on the balcony and made a short speech. That triggered the chanting and dancing all over again.

It was very tearful and emotional and I joined in with a will. My hands and throat are still raw from clapping and yelling.

Then to the Russian Embassy. I wanted to be there when they stormed it. But there must have been at least a battalion of militia guarding it. We could get to within 6 blocks of it. Oh well, it was all very satisfying.

I know Russian diplomats all over the world are going to be taking sudden vacations to keep from being snubbed like they were here. Our Ambassador cancelled a huge reception because there were Warsaw Pact people invited.

We've got many Czechs coming to the Embassy for help now. Thousands of them were stranded here. We're helping them as much as we can. They can't get back and they have nowhere to go.

The day before yesterday, while I was on duty, a real live one came into the Embassy. He was a real honest-to-goodness mountain fighter dressed in his traditional clothes. He came into the Embassy with a story about a run-in with some Russians on the Hungarian border that he wanted to get into the U. S. newspapers. He was rough, tough and carried a loaded ancient revolver in his sash. If he's carrying one here, that means there's no one around tough enough to take it away from him.

I gave him the address of an Associated Press correspondent and saw him out.

It's odd but it seems that alot of people in the lobby suddenly had to leave for some reason or another. I wasn't sad to see him go either."

Gala Carmel Mission Fiesta planned for Sunday

Final preparations are being made for the annual Fiesta de San Carlos de Borromeo, which will be celebrated Sunday, October 6.

John Calcagno, general chairman of the Fiesta Committee, said he expects more than 10,000 persons - many in costumes of the early days in California, to participate in the fiesta.

This year the fiesta cuisine will accent the Mexican touch, with ample supplies of tacos, enchiladas and tamales. The staple dish of the day, however, will be barbecued chicken prepared as usual by cooks from Fort Ord. Adult portions will cost $2, while a child's plate will sell for $1.

"The purpose of the fiesta is not to make money but to honor the memory of San Carlos de Borromeo," Calcagno pointed out.

In accordance with tradition the fiesta will begin with a solemn high mass in the Basilica, followed by a religious parade to the courtyard.

Then the grounds of the mission will resound with the music of old Spain, the sound of the handclapping and heel tapping as flamenco artists perform.

Teens will amuse themselves at a rock and roll session in the parish clubhouse, Crespi Hall.

There is no admission charge for the fiesta, and everyone is welcome.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

Former Valleyite Barbara Edwards now of Santa Clara, opened her invitation to the "Fourth Annual Aliso Road Neighborhood Barbecue" and broke all acceptance records with a phone call to Virginia and Tom Bordonaro to tell them that she would attend with her three children - Susan, Frank Jr. and Jonathan.

Frank Sr., a Navy flier, sent his regards from Alaska where he is on assignment. With volley ball for the athletic minded and lots of good food and conversation, another pleasant day of memories at the Bordonaros' home was tucked away by the neighbors and guests who attended. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sturgill, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Feldman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leanza, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Todd and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Spade, Col. (ret.) and Mrs. James Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Bordonaro, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dufur, and Tom's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Al Koeingsleib.

KOFFEE

The weekend before, Virginia and Tom had welcomed new neighbors, Sheila and Sam Leanza and their three sons Paul, Danny and Tony with a get-acquainted Koffee. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Feldman, Mrs. Mary Drobeck, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sturgill, Mrs. James Miller and Mrs. Don Draper.

The Leanzas have moved to Aliso Road from Ohio. Mr. Leanza has joined the firm of Getz and Falge who are CPAs in Pacific Grove.

The welcome mat is always out at the Bordonaro's beautiful home where last week Virginia invited friends to enjoy an evening of games and dessert at a Tupperware Party. Mrs. Nancy Kirewsky of Carmel demonstrated the product.

Attending were Mmes. Mary Salmeri, Olga Darch, Sheila Leanza, Rose Tarentino, Frances Wright, Elaine Fosso, Eloise Sturgill, Paulito Lucido, Marie Tedro, Doreen McKenzie, Rae Black, Dorothy Feldman, Pat Buffo, Beth Hitchcock, Ora Todd, and Fannie Russo.

A special guest "registered last week at the Canary Cottages when Mrs. Terry Britz and her daughter, 3-year-old Kristen, arrived from Kingsport, Tenn. to spend a week with Dr. and Mrs. Dexter Whitcomb. Mrs. Britz is Mrs. Whitcomb's daughter, the former Jana Miles, who enjoyed a visit with some of her classmates from days at Carmel High School.

RUNNING G RANCH

"The Running G" - a quarter horse stud ranch near San Juan Bautista is the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ball and children Cindy and Terry. It sounds as if the Balls, who have made many friends during their stay as official hosts at the Trail and Saddle Club grounds, have an exciting new life.

Last weekend they participated in a twelve mile trail ride with a horseman's group near Santa Cruz. They plan to ride at the Cow Palace in October and again at the San Benito County Fair as representatives of "The Running G." Vinnie has already been recruited as a 4-H Club mother and Cindy has entered a special cactus plant in the Fair.

The children's farewell gift from Bob Angell was that personable burro, "Charlie", who was transported several weeks ago to San Juan Bautista where he shares a pasture with a horse who in her seventeen years has never before met anything like Charlie! The Balls will also be accompanied by their collection of basset hounds. Good luck in your new venture!

PEANUTS HAS LEFT

Another well-known Valley personality who moved recently to Seaside was Peanuts, the Peekingese...who thought he was a Saint Bernard! The courageous canine who came to live at the Bill Hancpol home when he was 5 weeks old had been accepted in trade for his father "Sing Sing" from his breeder, Mrs. Carl Bua of Via Mallorca.

Peanuts moved in with the Hancpols' Saint Bernards and everyone (with the exception of Peanuts) KNEW that he was different breed.

Peanuts slept with the Saints, played with the Saints (with the big dogs patiently letting him swing on their tails and jowls!) greeted the many guests who rang the bell at the Carmel Valley Road gate to see the famous Saints and danced for the visitors to divert their attention to himself. He refused to eat from anything other than a dish pan used to serve his gigantic playmates.

The Hancpols relented (it was that or watch Peanuts die of starvation), bought him his own dish pan and watched him hop happily into it at feeding time to devour his dinner. He always got out of his nice warm kennel, no matter what the hour, to assist with the delivery of the latest litter of Saint Bernard puppies and for mischief stole peanuts from the monkey, Suzie.

In an attempt to eliminate the number of dogs over the five which they have requested permission from the Board of Supervisors to keep for breeding and show, Peanuts went to his new home last week in Seaside. But anyone who ever saw the little Chinese Temple dog who thought that he was a Saint will never forget him.

Circle comedy opens with a smash success

A perfect cast gave the Circle Theatre's new season a ram-bunctious send-off with Susan Slade's comedy, "Ready When You Are, C.B.!"

Out of the recent days of chaos has emerged a newly appointed and furnished theatre, with the seats barely in place for the opening night, and with a sparkling new set built in to match.

Romping gleefully throughout her part came perky Caroline Evans, as the scatty little gamin, Annie, whose bubbling non-approach to her hang-ups keeps this comedy in high key all the way. Bob Lotz, well cast as Jonas Jordan, an AWOL film star with a lupine reputation to maintain, provided a perfect counterpoise for Miss Evans. Together they handled the fast dialogue and repartee with excellent timing.

After a lively first act, the action slowed slightly in the final scene: what had been a somewhat plausible plot bounced along into improbable gimmicks as various loose threads were gathered in the attempt to make a neat ending for Annie and her friends.

The Golden Bough Players cast performed well: Gloria Wheeler played in suitably flamboyant fashion the costume-bedecked actress friend; Emily Ford Leonard came ac-

LagunaSeca race weekend will be bigger and faster

The biggest, richest and fastest racing weekend of the year will be held October 11, 12 and 13 at Laguna Seca Raceway in Monterey. With six amateur sports car races, a professional Grand Prix formula car championship and the all-overwhelming Canadian-American Challenge Cup Monterey Grand Prix, the program tops everything.

Prize money of over $92,000 is on the line for the two pro events.

Saturday, October 12, has 3 amateur races and the GP championship scheduled.

Sunday, the 13th, the world's fastest road racers follow 3 more regional races to climax the weekend program.

Friday is for practice and qualifying only.

Spectator comfort at the Laguna Seca course has been highly upgraded by the addition of 5,000 grandstand seats within 60 feet of the racetrack, across from the new infield pit area.

It is coupled with a wider overpass to the infield to speed up traffic.

Admission prices have remained the same as before.

ross loud and strong as Jonas' big-mouthed, big-hearted mama, and Ginna Bell Beaven, as Fran, did as well as could be expected with a difficult part which consisted mostly of remonstrance and hand-me-down advice from her group (psycho) therapy sessions.

Roy Baxter proved a very able director and set-planner, and has obviously paid great attention in synchronizing the punchy repartee that gives this enjoyable comedy its impact.

LETTER AT RIGHT was written to Mrs. Lorraine Luker, (above) executive director of The Family Service Agency, by a former client and illustrates the type of family problem handled by the F.S.A. Mrs. Luker, with her staff of three psychiatric case workers and 25 volunteer workers, helped 450 people including Carmel Valley people, to cope with family problems last year. In the knowledge that today's social ills stem from breakdown in the family, the Family Service Agency extends its program to develop and sustain a stronger and more harmonious family life. The F.S.A. is a Community Chest agency.

Dear Mrs. Luker,

You know when I began coming to see you a few months ago I felt as awkward as if I was trying to walk with only one leg. You said that perhaps I wasn't so far from wrong--that emotions can be as crippling as the loss of a limb. I might just as well have been without legs the way I was acting.

I was afraid to go out of the house, I was so worried about whether I could face all the things I might encounter. I was sure people were critical about me and I worried constantly about pleasing the boss on my new job. I was so afraid I would lose my job that I couldn't concentrate and consequently almost did. Somehow you made me worry less when we talked and things didn't seem so hopeless.

Things are better at home now. I worried so much about the children's school work that I nagged at them constantly. As a result, they were so upset that their grades got worse.

I was trying so hard to prove myself a good mother that I was making impossible demands on the children.

I see that my emotional problems began when my husband and I decided to divorce and the failure of my marriage shattered my confidence in myself.

I can't thank you enough for helping me and I now believe that I can make a more stable home for my children. I'm going to try very hard.

CARD PARTY

St. Dunstan's Episcopal Benefit card party was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philip Walker on Flight Road. Potted plants of blooming Kahili-ginger, hibiscus and orchids used about the rooms helped to emphasize the tropical weather of the day. Co-hostesses, Mrs. Robert Ewing, and Mrs. Philip Mothersill seated the guests at tables centered with small jars of jelly from Scotland tied in vari-colored net with miniature velvet flowers and tiny Japanese parasols tied in the bows.

The pretty miniatures were awarded as table prizes to Mmes. Luther Washington, Clifford Bolgard, Elbert Wade, Nelson Leoni, Otts Anker, Charles Hunt, Netta Bailey, James Cecka, Joseph Blacow, Peter Glod, and Miss Barbara Wade.

First prize in bridge was won by Mrs. Luther Washington, second in bridge by Mrs. Clifford Bolgard and the canasta award by Mrs. James Cecka.

Mrs. Anker - a former Valley resident whose husband built Mrs. Walker's home - was accompanied from Pacific Grove by Mrs. Leach, Mrs. Sommons, Mrs. Silva, and another former Valleyite Mrs. Charles Hunt. Mrs. Netta Bailey brought her houseguest, Mrs. B. Norman; Mrs. J. Gregory of the CV Manor was accompanied by Alice Reingheim, and Mrs. Karl Kunz brought Mrs. June Scheckford.

The next party will be held October 23 at the Hacienda. Those planning to attend are invited to phone to Mrs. Walker for reservations (659-2280)

MIDWEST TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lucas and children Karin and Bern, arrived home from their cross-country trailer junket in time for the opening of school. Avid Rotweiler breeders and owners, they managed to see many of the handsome breed at various stops and since they were accompanied by their huge male dog, Kurt, were able to sell some puppies from the next litter.

In Detroit they visited Luke's mother and family, visited Mary's aunt while their trailer was tethered in a park near the famous Indianapolis Speedway, visited friends in Chicago, Albuquerque, and Denver. They even managed a stay in Disneyland before returning home. One of the highlights of the trip for Mary was a tour of the Purina Pet Care center in St. Louis where she was able to view the feeding procedures.

Extreme fire danger in Los Padres Forest

Forest Supervisor William H. Hansen has declared that all burning, welding and construction activity including use of heavy equipment has been stopped within Los Padres National Forest until further notice. Hansen stated that the combination of dry fuel, low humidities and high temperatures have created the most extreme fire danger conditions experienced this year.

Everyone is asked to be especially careful while engaging in any activity within the Forest. Remember - smoking is permitted in posted areas only, certain areas of the Forest are closed to entry due to fire danger, camping is permitted in campgrounds only, open fires are prohibited and camp fire permits are required at all trail camps. If in doubt ask the Ranger.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of the Oleander Garden Shop

VEGETABLE BONANZA

There is a feeling of pleasure and satisfaction when I go to our vegetable plot with a bucket in my hand. Last time, gifts from the good earth were: four eggplant, 3 green peppers, and 2 tomatoes. They looked so fresh and attractive, I reflected for a few seconds that I would rather not spoil their appearance by cooking, if that were possible.

WINTER VEGETABLES

But summer vegetables will be finished soon, and then it is time to plant your cool-season crops. These summer vegetables depleted the soil of nutrients, so add soil-conditioning material and fertilizer and spade or roto-till the whole thing.

Water the plot well if you are trying to start your vegetables from seed, so that the stored water will be enough in most cases to germinate the seeds without sprinkling. Sprinkling tends to wash out the seeds. Then let the surface dry a little bit so you can sow the seeds easily.

Now is the time to plant beets. Their leaves are good to eat, and plants are seldom attacked by insects. As for broccoli, you get better results by planting seedlings. Protect the plants from cabbage worms; they are green and hard to see against the leaves. These worms are the larvae of a white butterfly.

Rotenone is safe to use to control this pest. Brussels sprouts and cabbage have the same culture as broccoli. These vegetables require water and their growth should not be hindered by the lack of moisture. Carrot seeds need 2-3 weeks to germinate. During this period the soil should be kept moist. If it dries, water should be applied with a very fine sprinkler to the surface so the soil will not be disturbed. There are also other vegetables which you might like to try planting this fall.

GARDEN BOOK

The other day I stopped at our local valley library to inquire about a book. The book was not there, so our good librarian Joan Ray will try to get it for me. In the meantime, she thoughtfully gave me two books which have related material to the one I want. The title of one is "Outdoor Hazards, Real and Fancied" by Mary V. Hood. It is a small, well-written book which any outdoor person or gardener will be fascinated to read.

BLACK WIDOWS

After studying it, I have more respect for the black widow spider, sometimes called the "Hourglass spider". Their poison is very potent; weight for weight the venom is six times stronger than that of the cobra, and 15 times stronger than that of a rattlesnake. Luckily they are small and inject only a small amount of venom; if they were big, they would be a real danger to man. Put on a good pair of gloves when cleaning a garage or similar place, and look before you reach for an old empty flowerpot. The web of this spider is irregular and it seems to have no special pattern. On the underside of the spider, there is a red "Hour glass".

LIFT GLADS

When the leaves of your gladiolus turn brown, then it is time to lift it from the soil. Cut the stem to within 1/2 inch of the bulb or corm, and with a twist of your hand dislodge the old, worn-out corm which is right under the new one. You might like to keep the largest "cormels" - attached to the main bulb. Dust the corms with bulb dust and place them in a box containing peat moss. The garage is a good place to keep them until next season.

Everybody come to an "OFF"

COME TO AN "OFF"!

The staff at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Thrift Shop looked at their tremendous stock and decided to have a sale.

Let's have an "IN", was the suggestion. "Passe", was the answer.

So it was decided to have an "OFF"! October 5 (Saturday) between 11 and 4, the shop on Village Drive will slash their already bargain prices to 75% OFF.

This includes clothing for men, women, children and infants, housewares, furniture, books, shoes...EVERYTHING!

Now is an ideal time to pick up those extra clothes for the ski trips, play clothes for after school wear, and don't forget the holidays are coming!

For those who are creative what better way to pick up items to turn into a holiday work of art!

Mrs. Howard Vail will have refreshments available in the kitchen including hot dogs, coffee, and punch. Bring the family! Have lunch! Attend the "OFF"!

CV Community Center movies

10/5 - In Color and CinemaScope, "THE LOST WORLD" starring Michael Rennie, Jill St. John, and a top all-star cast. The classic story of the group of explorers who find a continent in South America, still in the age of dinosaurs!

10/12 - In Wide-Screen COLOR, "MAGIC BOY", a full-length animated cartoon feature film! The story of a Japanese boy who lives in a small village with his sister and animal friends; but there is an evil enchantress who sends bandits to terrorize the village. Winner: Parents' Magazine Family Medal. Plus selected comedies on the same program.

10/19 - In Technicolor and Techniscope! "THE SON OF CAPTAIN BLOOD", starring Sean Flynn in an exciting sea adventure with plenty of swashbuckling action which made his father famous.

10/26 - In CinemaScope - A Pre-Halloween special! "THE DAY MARS INVADED THE EARTH" - Kent Taylor stars in a science-fiction special, as the angry Red Planet sends super-minds to destroy the will of the world!

All movies shown twice, at 1 and 3, with admission of 35¢. This is a non-profit service to the community put on by your CV Youth Center. All films are recommended by the Catholic Office of Motion Pictures, as well as Parents' Magazine.

There is a fine, well-stocked snack bar and adult supervision.

C.V.C.Y.C. drive nets $3,300

The recent fund drive for the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center netted $3300 in the combined business and residential collection, with a few contributions yet to come in.

This amount, while far below the possible total budget for the Center for the year, may be enough to sustain the Center until the end of the fiscal year in June. Some additional revenue will be realized from projects carried out by the Youth Organization and in contributions from organizations.

Valley residents who contributed are thanked for their efforts, and special thanks should be expressed to the persons who participated in the drive by collecting, acting as an area chairman and helping in other ways.

Area Chairmen were: Mrs. Lew McCreery, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dawson, Gwin Montgomery, Mrs. James Stewart, Dr. Keith Howell, Mrs. Mark Fields, Getty Fairchild, Mrs. Earle Wilsey, Mrs. David Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Art Fosso, Jim Cecka, Harold Fly, Mrs. Leon Mink, Mrs. Lou Allaire, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Verga and Dr. Dean Campbell.

both a boy and a girl here, 8 cute weeks old, needing lots of love. See them at 2099 David Ave., New Monterey at

New organist at Community Church

The Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula announces a change in organists as of Oct.

1. Leaving will be the organist-secretary, Mrs. Kenneth (Jan) Smock, who is returning to Lawrence Kansas, where she will remain with her parents while her husband who has been a student at the Defense Language Institute is on assignment overseas.

Replacing Mrs. Smock as organist will be Warren Coker, who served for a short time as organist at the church, following installation of the new organ. He has been on assignment with the Chaplain's office at Fort Ord and has been able to take on the post of organist for the church, under the Department of Music, with John Farr as director.

Mr. Coker was graduated from Westminster Choir in Princeton, N.J., and then served as organist for the Woodland Church in Philadelphia, and later at the First Baptist Church in Wilmington, North Carolina.
